

Find STD Services in Rhode Island

Many places in Rhode Island offer services for sexually transmitted diseases (STD), such as testing, treatment, and vaccination. Some patients may choose their healthcare provider based on insurance, fee scales, or minimum payments required to get treatment or tested. Others may have confidentiality concerns. See the chart below when considering options currently available.

Patients without a primary care provider can call HealthAccessRI at 888-647-0040 for help finding one affordably.

Find HIV Testing Sites

HIV counseling, testing, and referral services are provided to insured, underinsured, and uninsured clients. The organizations listed below offer a sliding fee scale based on income. Bills to minors obtaining confidential services must be based on the resources of the minor and clients must not be denied services for inability to pay. All services are confidential. Adolescents can receive HIV testing without parental notification or consent. Some sites offer anonymous testing with a unique identifier in place of the person's name.
